

Guest Speakers

Bishop Charlene Payne Kammerer

Bishop Kammerer was elected to the episcopacy at the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference (SEJ) at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina, in July 1996. She was assigned to the Charlotte Area where she served the conference faithfully for eight years. At the SEJ meeting in July 2004, Bishop Kammerer was assigned to serve the Virginia Conference.

Bishop Hope Morgan Ward

Bishop Ward was elected a bishop of The United Methodist Church and appointed to Mississippi in 2004. Before coming to Mississippi, Bishop Ward was superintendent of the Raleigh District in the North Carolina Annual Conference. She grew up in rural eastern North Carolina. She graduated from Duke in 1973 with a double major in English and Religion, and returned to earn a Master's in Divinity in 1978.

Bishop Mary Virginia Taylor

Bishop Taylor is the bishop for the South Carolina United Methodist Conference. She was elected in 2004 at the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference. She was endorsed by the Holston Conference delegation. Ordained deacon in 1974 and ordained elder in 1976 in the Holston Annual Conference, "Dindy," as she is sometimes known, served at churches in Athens, Knoxville, Gray, Bluff City, Kingsport, and Chattanooga, Tennessee before being appointed Cleveland District Superintendent in 1999.

Our Logo and Theme

Native peoples have revered squash, corn, and beans as nature's life-sustaining gifts. They are known as the "Three Sisters". Native American legend tells of the spirits of the Three Sisters safeguarding and blessing the harvests of these three crops. The sisters are said to be inseparable, a blessing to be planted, eaten, and celebrated together.

Corn provides sturdy stalks and supports the growing beans. Beans make the soil rich with nitrogen, necessary for the corn to thrive. Squash leaves cover the ground around the corn and bean plants, thus keeping the soil moist.

Our SEJ Clergywomen's Consultation will celebrate the strength of the Three Sisters as we grow together from the common ground of the SEJ, bless each other as we renew our faith with God's grace, and rejoice in the grit that gives us strength for ministry.
